OBSERVATIONS: The Committee raised concerns around the volume of traffic impacting the wider road structure of Burgess Hill – specifically leading to the mainline train stations. With further site development lined up for south of Folders Lane and a shift in modal transport unlikely to take hold during this time of development, priority should be given to dedicated cycle lanes for phase 4 (not shared with traffic) and more prominent signage for encouraging cycling and walking – with mileage indicators and pedestrian/cycling route maps as part of the street furniture.

Furthermore they proposed that street signage towards the two train stations be more heavily weighted towards Burgess Hill than Wivelsfield, given the burden already placed on Wivelsfield station traffic levels, nearby Manor Field school and the influx of new commuters from the Rocky Lane development already preferring to be dropped off at Wivelsfield rather than Haywards Heath.

Looking at the transport statement from Milestone, the Committee felt this was not clear enough and was in conflict with greater levels of traffic still to come from proposed surrounding developments at that side of Burgess Hill.

The Committee also raised concerns over the existing cycleway that had been put in place along Kingsway. These could be addressed to improve cycle safety. The concerns were as follows:

- 1) The two-way route on one side of the road forced cyclists to give way when crossing what would be soon a busy side-road entrance into the development (Unicorn Way). It would be safer to remain on the road;
- 2) Shared cycle-pedestrian crossing near junction of The Holt took the 2-way cycle route onto a narrow pavement. Again it would be safe to negotiate the junction into The Holt from the vehicle refuge.
- 3) Very limited safety signage currently throughout.

There were no renewable energy schemes in this application, which contravened District Plan Policy DP39.
